Product description:

Robert Parker's Wine Advocate (Jeb Dunnuck, déc. 2016): 92/100. I was shocked how good the 2014 L'Ame Soeur showed and this region, located just outside the village of Vienne, needs to be on readers' radar. I suspect it will have its own appellation in two to three years, as well. This medium-bodied, structured red has obvious minerality as well as lots of sweet black cherries, black raspberries and olive aromatics, with ultra-fine tannin and a fresh, focused style on the finish. It will drink nicely for 10-12 years. Drink 2016 - 2028.
